Two see next four years as time of peace

By CAROLE LANGE

Bert Courrege and Sam Perniciaro, supervisors-elect of beats one and four, respectively, see the next four years as a time of "peace and harmony" between members of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors.

In separate interviews with the Echo, the incoming supervisors outlined their programs for beat improvement and voiced similar opinions that the new board would operate more efficiently and effectively.

Courrege, 35, said his first action as beat one supervisor "will be to get the account in order." Actually, he took the initiative prior to his official placement on the board and asked for an audit of the beat one account, a request which resulted in a unanimous vote for a complete audit of all five beat accounts.

"The condition that beat one is in now is not a condition of the past four years, but has developed over a number of years," Courrege said, adding "with cooperation, I hope to get the account in order during my first year in office."

Courrege said for the present, beat one will be operating with a minimum of equipment. He said he plans to have all equipment repaired if possible, but admitted that he will have to purchase several heavy pieces of equipment including a dump truck and grader, as soon as funds allow.

In addition to stabilization of the beat one account, Courrege has other priority items for beat improvement. These include correction of the drainage problem at Lakeshore School, the purchase of land for a centrally located beat barn, improvement of access roads in the beat, and continued upgrading of the beat's state aid roads.

"The first year is going to be tough," Courrege said "but if I don't jump in and start immediately, I'll never get anything accomplished."

Concerning his working relationship with other board members, Courrege said he is looking forward to working "as a unit" the next four years. He said he has met informally with incumbent board members to discuss problems in the county, specifically those relating to a supervisors area.

"The current board has proven that they are willing to help," Courrege said, referring to their recent collective hiring of beat one workers in an effort to provide the men with a Christmas paycheck. The laborers did not receive their salaries for the month of November due to a lack of funds in the beat one account.

At the end of his four years in office, Courrege said he hopes for improved roads, a better school system, and more job opportunities for the youth of the county.

"A supervisor has a say-so in a lot that goes on in the county, and I plan to voice my opinion for improvements," Courrege said.

"I entered the race because I wanted to see a good job done for the people in beat one," he said, "and I feel if you just sit back and wait, these things won't happen. You have to work for what you want."

When Sam Perniciaro, 51, is asked what he hopes to accomplish as beat four supervisor, he answers immediately - "improved roads, new industries, and more benefits for the young people."

To reach these goals, Perniciaro believes Hancock County must "cash in" on its opportunities for recreation. "We've got the best potential in the world, the beach, to bring tourists in here from Louisiana and other areas of Mississippi," he said.

Among his programs for improvement of beat four, Perniciaro plans to erect playground equipment on the beach, build parking lanes on the right side of the beach road, and "sometime in the future" build two bathhouses with showers near the Washington Street area of the beach. Elsewhere in the county, he wants to black-top Bayou Lacroix Road, Bayou Phillip Road and Avenue B in Shoreline Park.

Though Perniciaro is no newcomer to political office, having served as constable for the past four years, he said "I'll have to play it by ear during the first few meetings of the board". He continued, "I think we've got a good sound board and since three of the members have four year's experience, I think it would help me to listen to what they've got to say."

Perniciaro thinks there will be some changes in the way board meetings are conducted. "I'm sure the meetings will be more formal," he said, "and I look forward to that. After all, I'm too old to fight."

Courrege and Perniciaro will officiate at their first board meeting Jan. 5 at 9 a.m. following swearing-in ceremonies at the courthouse at 8:30 a.m.

Surviving the flood

Heavy rains, poor drainage causes Mollere Drive flooding

Drainage problems on Mollere Drive in Waveland are still causing severe discomfort to Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Moss Jr., of 313 North Beach Boulevard. Following Sunday's rain, back-up waters flooded the ground between the house and the beach forming a lake which also closed the road to vehicular traffic.

Moss said Monday that he had been complaining to the city for more than a year but so far the flooding problem had not improved, in spite of the municipality's declaration that its new storm drain system is now in working order.

John Moss, then 9-years-old, wrote a letter to Mayor John Longo last year, stating that every time he tried to ride his bicycle to church he encountered difficulty at that spot on Mollere Drive, often finding it impassable.

Longo, in his reply, congratulated young Moss on his fortitude in contacting city officials, and promised a solution to the flood and messy street impasse.

Contacted Monday the Waveland mayor said that the broken pipe which had previously blocked the drain had been repaired.

The mayor said that Monday's water inundation was probably caused by both the rain water mass and a back-up of Mississippi Sound waters, due to the affected property's low elevation.

With crews working at the site on Tuesday, an improvement report was given by Moss that day.

Mayor Longo also said that with the street paving program currently underway in his city, action on improving the road's surface could also be expected shortly.

"Our problem now is with the natural drains and once these have been completely restored by the supervisors, then the Mollere Drive flooding should abate," Longo said.

The drains in question run under Beach Boulevard and out, via wooden box culverts, into the Sound.

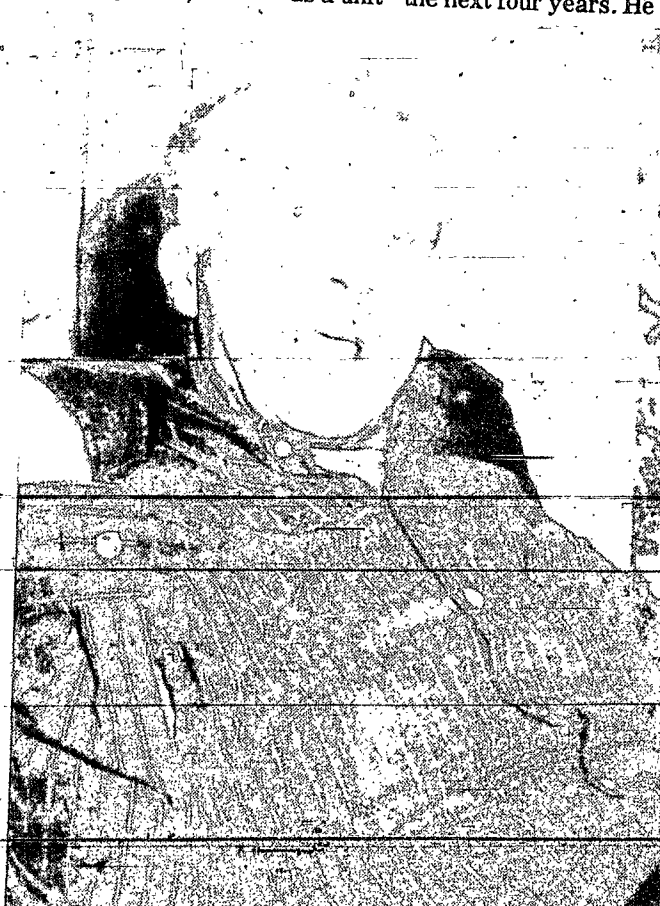

The mayor said the supervisors, aware of his concern, were in the process of restoring the drains.

"One drain was opened last week and it should not be too long before they are all operational again," Longo reported.

As a safety precaution the mayor said road closure signs would be installed on Mollere Drive, at the flood point, until the water receded.

Chamber hosts supervisors in discussion

In an attempt to improve relationships between Hancock County business and government, the Hancock Chamber of Commerce hosted the 1976 Board of Supervisors at coffee Monday, Dec. 29 at Scafield's Wheel Inn Restaurant.

Chamber President Anita D. Lamb pledged the organization's support on matters of mutual interest and urged supervisors to use the Chamber's resources to further County Governmental programs.

Also representing the Chamber of Commerce were executive committee members P. D. (Sonny) Bailey, Edward Hall, John Binegar, Richard Thomas and Chamber manager Max Berns. The board of supervisors was represented by James Travira, Sam Perniciaro, Oscar Peterson, John Rutherford and George Heitzmann—all of whom are associated with the chamber through personal or business membership.

Programs for civic beautification and sound governmental financing were cited as common objectives of both groups. The Chamber's 1976 Program of Work was explained by its representatives, while Rutherford and Heitzmann assured members of the county's sound financial state at the year's end.

The Chamber plans frequent joint meetings of the two groups in coming months, in addition to a series of meetings scheduled with special interest groups in Hancock County.

Coast's sole State park

Waller to lead Buccaneer Park dedication ceremonies Jan. 9

Plans were announced Monday to hold official state dedication ceremonies for Buccaneer State Park Jan. 9 although the park won't officially open to the public until sometime later next Spring.

Mississippi Park Commission member Perry Gibson, who with the commission's public affairs director Ken Jones conducted Monday's press briefing at the Wheel Inn, explained the early dedication service was being held in recognition of outgoing Governor William Waller's contribution to the state park system.

"Buccaneer," said Gibson, "is the first state park created in the Gulf Coast area since the late 1930's."

The last, he added, was Magnolia State Park in Ocean Springs, which was later deeded to the Gulf Islands National Seashore.

Buccaneer encompasses 393 acres of pine and live oak woods nestled across the natural beach of the Mississippi Sound. The park is incorporated into the city limits of Waveland, a move that was taken to secure a 99-year lease on the land, and is within five miles of Bay St. Louis.

Gibson said Monday that January's dedication ceremonies will mark completion of the first phase of development for the park which began 18 months ago and has totaled nearly $2 million.

Money for the impressive park development was created by the Mississippi legislature in 1972 when $25 million was appropriated for state park improvements. Included in this grant, Gibson said, was $3 million for creation of a Gulf Coast park.

Later, Gibson said, a park commission site selection committee narrowed its choices down to two sites—Edgewater Park and the Waveland site, then known as Jackson Ridge.

"The Waveland site was considered more suitable," Gibson said, "due to the need for camping facilities." Some 80 acres of the proposed park was purchased with

"We Care" funds and matching money from the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation. The rest of the park land is made up of 16th section land.

Contracts for utilities and the first buildings were let in June, 1974 to Amco Construction Company of Bay St. Louis and Gregory Construction Company of Gulfport, Bay St. Louis architect Fred Wagner was commissioned to design the buildings and the proposed "wave pool". The commission selected Batson & Batson Engineers of Picayune for all engineering work.

The main campground will offer 104 class A camp pads with complete electrical, water and sewage hookups as well as individual picnic tables and benches. There are also three bathhouses, two picnic pavilions with restrooms and a comfort station.

The camping spurs surround the main recreation pavilion building, which houses an enclosed laundromat and complete camp store. A large circular wade pool for small children, basketball and lighted tennis courts and a shuffleboard court are also available free of charge to overnight guests.

Plans are to advertise for an olympic size pool in January.

A total of 150 acres will be developed under the present contract.

Gibson and park manager Stan Weidman said that finishing touches still needed to be completed by contractors before the park could be opened to the public, but that every effort was being made to ensure that the park would be open to visitors by March.

Three groups have already inquired about early Spring arrivals, Weidman said.

Although much of the original $3 million designated for the park has been either spent or budgeted, Gibson said it was hoped that more work could be done at the park as

Scenic picnic area

Spanish moss hangs gracefully over the day use picnic area.

Profits were returned to the park from annual visitors.

"There is about 80 acres of marsh land," Gibson said, "that we hope will later be dredged so scenic canals can be constructed."

Ceremonies will begin Jan. 8 with a 2 p.m. concert by the Pearl River Junior College band and dance group.

Pearls. A parade will follow into the park followed by the dedication ceremonies at 2:30 p.m.

Gibson said Gov.-elect Cliff Black, and other state and local officials had been invited to attend, as well as

WEEKLY NEWS SUMMARY

BOR grant to finance Jackson tennis center

Governor Bill Waller has announced that he has submitted an application for a $225,000 grant to the U. S. Department of the Interior, Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, for construction of a tennis center in South Jackson.

Waller said, "With the rapidly increasing popularity of tennis in Jackson, we are proud that this administration has been able to assist the City in seeking to obtain these funds."

Waller said that the project, if approved, would involve a total cost of $450,000 with the City of Jackson providing 50 percent of the expenses.

Rae Sanders, State Director, Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, said the proposed project will include construction of 14 lighted tennis courts and one multi-purpose court to be located near the city swimming pool at McDowell Road and Oak Forest Street.

Waller also announced approval of a $35,000 Bureau of Outdoor Recreation grant for construction of Copiah Creek Park near Hazlehurst.

Hood, District IV and Ted B. B. Barry, District V, who have worked so hard to provide this additional recreation opportunity.

Sanders said the park, to be located eight miles east of Hazlehurst, will involve a total cost of $70,000 with $35,000 coming from local sources.

TRAINING CENTER DEDICATED

Governor Waller last week helped dedicate a manpower training center in Corinth that was built using the labor of the type of students who will use the building.

The Governor said the 20,000 square foot facility, funded by a $164,000 grant from the Governor's Office of Education and Training, is "one of the best in the southeastern United States."

The Governor said the center will accommodate more than 100 students learning a variety of skills, including welding, auto mechanics, electronics and others.

Waller said the Corinth-Alcorn County Chamber of Commerce donated land for the 10-acre site while the Alcorn County Board of Supervisors built the access road and cleared the land.

GRANTS APPROVED

The Mississippi Criminal Justice Planning Division, Office of the Governor, has approved grants totalling $579,465 for various Mississippi cities and counties "in an effort to upgrade the Criminal Justice System of Mississippi."

Bill Grissett, Division Director, said a $200,000 grant was approved for the Mississippi Department of Youth Services to provide eight group homes for juvenile offenders. He said other grants included $71,280 to Harrison County for development of a proposed Harrison County Regional Jail and $28,199 to Copiah County for development of a seven-county regional corrections facility.

NEW PARK NAMED

Mrs. Joe Flanagan of Merigold, Mississippi was congratulated recently by Dr. Jim W. Meredith, Mississippi Park Commission Executive Director, for submitting the winning name for the Living Historical Plantation, a new state park under construction near Greenwood.

Mrs. Flanagan's name suggestion, Florewood River Plantation, is derived by combining Leflore County and Greenwood and was selected for its descriptiveness and originality. Over 100 different names were submitted by interested citizens in the first statewide contest to name a state park.

Dr. Meredith said, "We hope to be able to officially open Florewood River Plantation by the first of June, importance its completion will 1976. We are pleased by the mean to the continued rapid progress being made on the growth of tourism in our new park and realize the great State."

Auto standards issued by VA

Disabled veterans entitled to replace or purchase adaptive equipment for their automobiles at government expense have been advised of new Veterans Administration safety and quality standards, effective Jan. 1.

An estimated 63,000 disabled veterans of World War II and thereafter are eligible or have received one-time grants, not to exceed $3,300, from the VA toward purchase of an automobile. These then may be equipped with aids that modify operating controls.

Depending on the nature of the disability, the add-on devices typically provide for hand control of brakes and accelerator, alter position of foot controls or assist with the operation of transmission, steering and other equipment. Letters to veterans who have benefited from the add-on adaptive equipment advised that after Jan. 1 the VA will not authorize payment for equipment that does not meet the new standards.

Eligibility for automobile grants and adaptive equipment was extended this year to include 5,000 peace time veterans with service between Dec. 31, 1946 and June 27, 1950.

The grants are limited to veterans with permanent loss or use of one or both hands or feet or impairment of vision of both eyes to a prescribed degree, resulting from military service during or after World War II.

The VA letter invited eligible veterans to contact local VA hospitals or outpatient clinics for complete information on the new automobile adaptive equipment standards.

Agencies combine to test fire ant control chemicals

The Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce, the Environmental Protection Agency and the United States Department of Agriculture will coordinate their efforts in testing chemicals and insecticides for alternative use in replacing and/or supplementing Mirex for fire ant control, according to terms of a recently signed agreement between the agencies.

Cash funds and professionally trained personnel sonnel and laboratories will be provided by the two federal agencies. Equipment and similar personnel of the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce will be utilized in combined efforts of seeking new and effective chemicals to control the fire ant.

benefit other states infested with the imported fire ant as well as Mississippi.

The program of fire ant control research was proposed by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce. "New and previously screened promising pesticides will be evaluated on the basis of biological acceptability, toxic activity and existing registered use patterns as candidates for alternatives to Mirex," according to provisions of the signed agreement.

Protection Agency not to exceed $100,000. The United States Department of Agriculture funding involves costs of carrying out certain phases of work including salaries and other necessary expenses up to $79,600.

"The imported fire ant is a destructive and ruthless pest and it is very significant that the federal government recognizes the value of working in the new areas of control activities," Ross said.

Q - Is a veteran who entered service May 1, 1976, and discharged Aug. 7, 1976, eligible for nonservice-connected pension?

A - Yes. Even though the veteran has only seven days wartime service, he served continuously for more than 90 days.

Ask the VA

Q - I am a disabled military retiree. I know that in order to get VA compensation, I must waive a portion of my retired pay. If I qualify for the $150 VA clothing allowance because my prosthetic device wears out my clothing, will I also have to waive $150 of my retired pay?

A - No. It is not necessary for a veteran in receipt of retirement pay to waive any portion of his retirement pay in order to receive the clothing allowance. However, if he is in receipt of retirement pay and has not elected to receive compensation, a claim will be required each year to establish eligibility for the clothing allowance.

Q - How many volunteers serve in Veterans Administration hospitals?

A - In an average month, more than 106,000. It's as if the entire population of a city larger than Duluth, Minn., helped care for veteran patients.

Q - How can I get the money VA owes me for my husband while I was in school on the GI Bill and how much time do I have to complete the necessary paperwork?

A - Contact the nearest VA regional office about filing a claim for the money. Claims will be accepted until July 1, 1976.

Q - Is there a cutoff date for the spouse of a deceased veteran to complete apprentice or job training under VA's Dependents' Educational Assistance program?

A - Yes. For the spouse of a deceased veteran the cutoff

Can You Compete?

You! Competition is getting keener — are you? You'd better because now days and surely for the foreseeable future, the workers who deliver goods and services and full productivity will succeed in the highly competitive days we are all experiencing.

Excellent, brain-starting ideas continue to arrive from you readers so I am time to share some of my mail with all of you. Reader "O" R" sends along these gems — The 10 Commandments of Human Relations, so vital today.

1. Speak to people. There's nothing so pleasant as a cheerful word for someone, particularly nowadays when we need more "smile breaks".

2. Be late at people. Remember, it takes 12 minutes to throw and only 14 to pick up.

3. Help people by name. Nothing so effective as to study each is the sound of your own name.

4. Be friendly and helpful. If you would have friends, be friendly.

5. Be honest. Remember, speak and act as though everything you do is a matter of principle.

6. Talk a good game, but let people remember you know what you know. If you don't know what the other person knows, borrow brains. Sincerity is the only truly lasting advantage.

7. Be generous with praise. Be generous with criticism. Leaders give praise. They encourage others to give. Praise is the key. And how the world would appear! "Disasters" are not needed.

8. Be considerate of the feelings of others. There are three sides to a controversy: yours, the other side, and the right one.

9. Be thoughtful of the opinion of others. Listen. Learn. And three tested behaviors of true leaders.

10. Be able to give excellent service. What really counts most in life is what we do for others.

A special thanks to reader "O" R" for passing along the above sparked by James R. Wilson, Convention Bureau Manager of the Waterloo (Iowa) Chapter of Commerce.

All men and women seek one goal: success or happiness. The only way to achieve true success is to express yourself completely in service to society. First, have a definite, clear, practical ideal — a goal, an objective. Second, have the necessary means to achieve your ends — wisdom, money, materials, methods. Third, adjust your means to that end.

Know who wins that Aristotle who lived back in 384-322 B.C. What wisdom — and so right for now, too!

The way to tell a big person is how he or she responds when making a mistake.

I'm sorry I made a mistake.

That's great! I should have thought of that.

Thanks. You've given me a whole new slant. You started it, you're right. Many thanks for correcting me.

I appreciate your honesty and candor. Please show me the right way.

No end of good can be done if we don't care who gets the credit.

Accidents, burglaries keep police busy

The Bay St. Louis Police Department reports that a number of thefts and two accidents kept the department busy over the Christmas holidays.

Police Chief Billy Carbonette said David Watzky, 14, escaped serious injury Friday, Dec. 26 when he was struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. Rose M. Lewis, Route 1, Box 46, Bay St. Louis. Reportedly, Mrs. Lewis was pulling into the Spanish Trail Super Market parking lot when her brakes failed causing her to strike the youth before running into the store front. Young Watzky was taken by Mobile Medic to Hancock General Hospital where he was treated and later released.

A hit and run accident caused heavy damage to the automobile of Guy M. Lizana, 451 Webster, when it was hit Saturday at the intersection of St. Francis and Sycamore Streets. An investigation into the incident continues.

In two incidences Dec. 27 and Dec. 29 three bicycles were reported stolen.

Kirk Ladner reported his bicycle stolen at 7:50 p.m. from Washington Street and South Beach. The stolen property was discovered later that evening when patrolmen spotted the bike in some bushes.

A search for two girls bicycles belonging to Mrs. Ernest Netto, 321 Leonhard Avenue, continues. Both bikes are 16 inches high with purple and orange fenders and white baskets.

A stereo radio, tape player, and four speakers were stolen from the automobile of A.L. Wood, 314 Ulman Ave., Friday, Dec. 26. Ptn. Frank Hess is investigating the theft.

Police are also investigating the theft of a Motorola 22 inch television set reportedly stolen from the truck of J. C. Koenen Dec. 27 while the vehicle was parked at Hancock General Hospital. Koenen said he had just picked up the television set from a local repair shop.

In a similar incident, John Holmes reported that burglars broke into his boat, which he had moored the day before, and got away with a CB radio, tools and tool box valued at $300.

Ceremonies reenact first flag raising

Dr. William Flood, acting under commission of the Governor of the Territory of New Orleans, on January 9, 1811, planted the first American flag on the shores of the former Republic of West Florida.

James Madison, fourth president of the United States, issued a mandate to Governor Claiborne to occupy the territory following completion of the Louisiana Purchase.

A reenactment of this historic flag emplacement will take place in Pass Christian, Friday, Jan. 9, according to B. Davis McCutcheon, chairman, Pass Christian Bicentennial Committee.

McCutcheon said Tuesday that the ceremony will start at 12:45 p.m. at the Pass Christian City Hall. At 1 p.m. the vessel, Alligator, bearing "Dr. Flood" will arrive in the Pass harbor. A tour of the city's historic homes and a tea in the library will follow the "landing."

The Bicentennial committee chairman said he anticipates attendance by Governor William Waller of Mississippi; Governor-elect, Cliff Finch; Louisiana Lt. Governor Jimmy Fitzmorris; detachments of the U.S. Coast Guard, the Keesler AFB Band, mayors of various Gulf Coast municipalities, and school children.

Good neighbors

Henry Van Dyke once wrote a "quotable". He said: "Every house where love abides and friendship is a guest, is surely home, and home, sweet home; for there the heart can rest."

Most home owners have that good and comfortable feeling that "your home is your castle." And this is true. The United States Constitution and many state and local laws assure homeowners protection. The same law that protects you also protects your neighbors, your guest, and even small children who may come uninvited on your property.

Kenneth and Irene Donelson made a study of home, and how some home problems are solved. They write: "Your Castle is surrounded by a moat of legal codes that guarantee your rights - and responsibilities. Be on the alert!" And they add: "As long as you keep up the mortgage payments, pay taxes, or pay the apartment rent, you're entitled to undisturbed possession and the quiet enjoyment of your home. No one has the right to disturb your quiet enjoyment."

Most people don't abuse their legal rights, but sometimes they ignore their responsibilities. Rate yourself: Are you a horn-honker? Is the muffler on your car noisy? Does your dog knock over garbage cans and make a mess? Have you any hazards on your property? Have you taken safety precautions? Does your radio blare? Are you ever guilty of littering? Do you control your dog so that his barking does not interfere with sleep, rest, and quiet in your neighborhood? Do you have adequate coverage on your homeowners insurance policy?

The new year is a good time for a self analysis. If anything on your property could be defined as a "nuisance," injurious to health, indecent or offensive, or interferes with the comfort and enjoyment of life for your neighbor, isn't it about time to make an adjustment?

Bicentennial News

By JOE PILET

Many of our readers have expressed a desire to display flags in their homes and at their places of business. This is good. The following suggestions may be of help to you in locating the flag of your choice.

The First Guaranty Savings, 2210 Pass Road, Gulfport, offers an American Flag Kit consisting of a pole, bracket and a 2' x 3' flag together with a Freedom Collection Book, priced at $4.76 plus tax. This is a limit of one kit per family. Additional flag kits are $5.26 each.

Small flags may be purchased from many of our local merchants. Should you require a flag pole or a larger flag the B. & N. Flag Company located at 320 Board of Trade Place, New Orleans is recommended. Mr. Walter Finkle owns this company and may be called by dialing 1-504-522-2002.

Small desk sets of Bicentennial Flags are available locally. Make inquiry by calling me at 467-5551. This is by no means a complete list. Lou Fernandez who chairs the Patriotic Committee of the Hancock County Bay-Waveland Bicentennial Committee would welcome information from flag dealers and will channel the in-

Seven members of Project Do, a community teen-age action group, introduced eight Vietnamese refugee children into their homes last week, in an overnight Christmas holiday event.

The refugees were under the guidance of To-Hong-Duc, their counsel from New Orleans. Duc, who is a teacher in the Orleans Parish system, and an official of the Vietnamese settlement in Algiers, La. coordinated trip arrangements with Brother Canisius Schell, Project Do director.

The local girls, all from Our Lady's Academy, first met their holiday charges at a Project Do sponsored picnic for the refugees earlier in the year. Since then several of them have visited the refugee resettlement area in Louisiana.

The visiting girls were treated to family activities in the home, bowling, skating, movies, beach walks, and the like. All brought gifts for their hostesses and took back presents and souvenirs of their visit.

Project Do members involved, and their guests, were: Sharon Ladner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Ladner of Bay St. Louis, guest, Tran-t-My-Phuoc; Sharon Schmitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Schmitt of Clermont Harbor, guest, Nguyen-t-Xuan-Thu; Kelyn Kidd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kidd of Waveland, guest, Nguyen-t-Kim-Nhung; Katrina Kersanac, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.J. Kersanac of Bay St. Louis, guest, Nguyen-t-Phuong-Hai; Kathie Koch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Koch of Bay St. Louis, guest, Nguyen-t-Thin; Angela Ross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ross of Bay St. Louis, guest, Tran-t-Minh-Anh; Mary Boos, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Boos, guests, Nguyen-t-Thanh-Thuy, and Trinh-thi-Thuy.

Washington Report

By: Rep. Trent Lott

What are some of the major pieces of legislation approved during the first session of the 94th Congress and why are they important?

Three questions will, of course, be the subjects of lively debates for many Monday Morning Quarterbacks now that Congress has called it quits for the year. After all, those very bills sparked many spirited debates on the House and Senate floors before final passage.

Take H. R. 19461, for example, the widely discussed New York City bill. If that doesn't stir your interest, try H. R. 6072, the emergency railroad bill, or H. R. 5536, the emergency housing measure, or any number of other bills.

The New York City bill was a major piece of legislation, in my view, simply because it set a disturbing precedent. I've many of my colleagues who voted against it, I can't help but believe that we've opened the flood gates.

The measure set up the Inter-governmental Emergency Assistance Board, which is meant to give the power to issue loan guarantees to a local state and local. They can expect a lot of trouble in the coming years ahead.

H. R. 19461, the emergency housing bill, was passed by the House in mid-August and was sent to the President. In July, it was passed by the Senate. I don't think it will be passed by the President. The bill provides emergency assistance to the housing industry by subsidizing mortgage interest rates for middle income families. Unfortunately, it didn't assist the industry as much as was hoped.

On the education front, Congress studied H. R. 3479, H. R. 3471, and S. 2579. These bills would amend and extend the federal government's higher education programs, including student aid.

The House and Senate waited until December to pass the energy and tax bills. It should go without saying that both are "major" pieces of legislation, although neither is the kind of legislation that most Americans wanted or expected.

As in 1974, there was emergency legislation for the railroad industry. One was another bailout for the Penn Central Railroad, the other a railroad package that authorized federal money for work in repairing and improving essential railroads.

As for the Mississippi and other southern states who complained the extension of the Voting Rights Act of 1965 was too broad, many of us believed that the extension was necessary to protect the rights of the Negroes. The act was extended for five years.

The bill provided emergency assistance to the housing industry by subsidizing mortgage interest rates for middle income families. Unfortunately, it didn't assist the industry as much as was hoped.

Means Committee and into the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee.

National health insurance, however, was not the only health bill we studied during 1975. The House approved both the National Health Service Corps Amendments and the Nurses Training Act.

The National Health Service Corps bill simply extends a system that encourages participation in rural areas by qualified medical personnel. The Nurses Training Act provides assistance for students in nursing schools as well as assistance for construction of nursing facilities.

Other bills calling for Social Security reform and Food Stamp reform also failed to get final action. Both will be on the docket again during the second session, which is slated to begin in mid-January.

As we look back on the year and consider the fact that the House alone had more than 800 votes - which makes it one of the busiest years in the history of the Congress - the final legislative record is pretty poor. In consulting with various sources as well as reviewing my own list of major legislation, it is difficult to find a half dozen really important bills passed during 1975.

All in all, it was a very busy year on Capitol Hill. Let's just hope that the 95th session of Congress will produce better results.

Mansion News

Cassell Waller

Christmas is history and the new year looms active at your Governor's Mansion.

The major change the year will probably bring to the Mansion is a change of residents. The Wallers will move out in mid-January to become private citizens again and the Finchs will move in as First Family.

Almost every where I go people ask, "What are you going to do now?" The main thing I am going to do is resume my role as full-time mother.

I have tried to be a very active First Lady with the understanding and approval of my children who agreed that I should do things like helping to research and write the "first ever" history of the Mansion even though it meant sometimes missing ball games and other important events in their lives. The whole family has been involved together in activities like the large receptions held when the Mansion was first reopened but we're looking forward to spending much more time together doing "normal" things as a family.

Fixing the blame won't fix the fix we're in.

Right now, a major problem in Mississippi and the rest of the nation is the energy shortage. But spending valuable time finding fault will not help find answers to the problem.

Get a fix on the problem.

The natural gas shortage is the result of the nation's having used this depletable resource for several years at a far faster rate than gas producing companies have been able to add new reserves. The decline in available supply now has reached the point that widespread plant closings and other severe dislocations may occur this winter in some parts of the country.

Fortunately, we do not expect any such severe results in Mississippi or other parts of United's direct service area in the Gulf South this winter. But the problem is serious enough, and the future uncertain enough, that all of us must work together to reduce the impact of the shortages.

Service on priority basis.

In times of peak demands and scarce supply, we must allocate available gas supplies on a priority basis. United, like all interstate pipeline companies, delivers gas to customers in accordance with a system of priorities ordered by the Federal Power Commission.

The highest priority is for use of gas in homes, schools, hospitals and commercial establishments (so-called domestic or "human needs" customers). The next priority is for use of gas in industry as a raw material (so-called feedstock or process gas). The last category is for other industrial uses of gas by both small and large users, with minimum levels established so that small users are the least affected.

United expects to have sufficient supply available this winter to meet all the needs of the first two categories (gas for human needs and processing purposes), and to provide some quantity of gas to all industrial users in United's Gulf South service area.

As in past years, however, there will be substantial curtailment of gas deliveries to larger industrial users, notably for such relatively low efficiency uses as boiler fuel for generation of electricity. This type of industrial gas curtailment will increase somewhat over last year.

Moreover, in the event of a severely cold winter which substantially increases the heating load requirements, or in the event of severe storms or other disasters which interfere with the collection of gas supply from the fields for an extended period, there is a possibility that still deeper curtailments will be necessary.

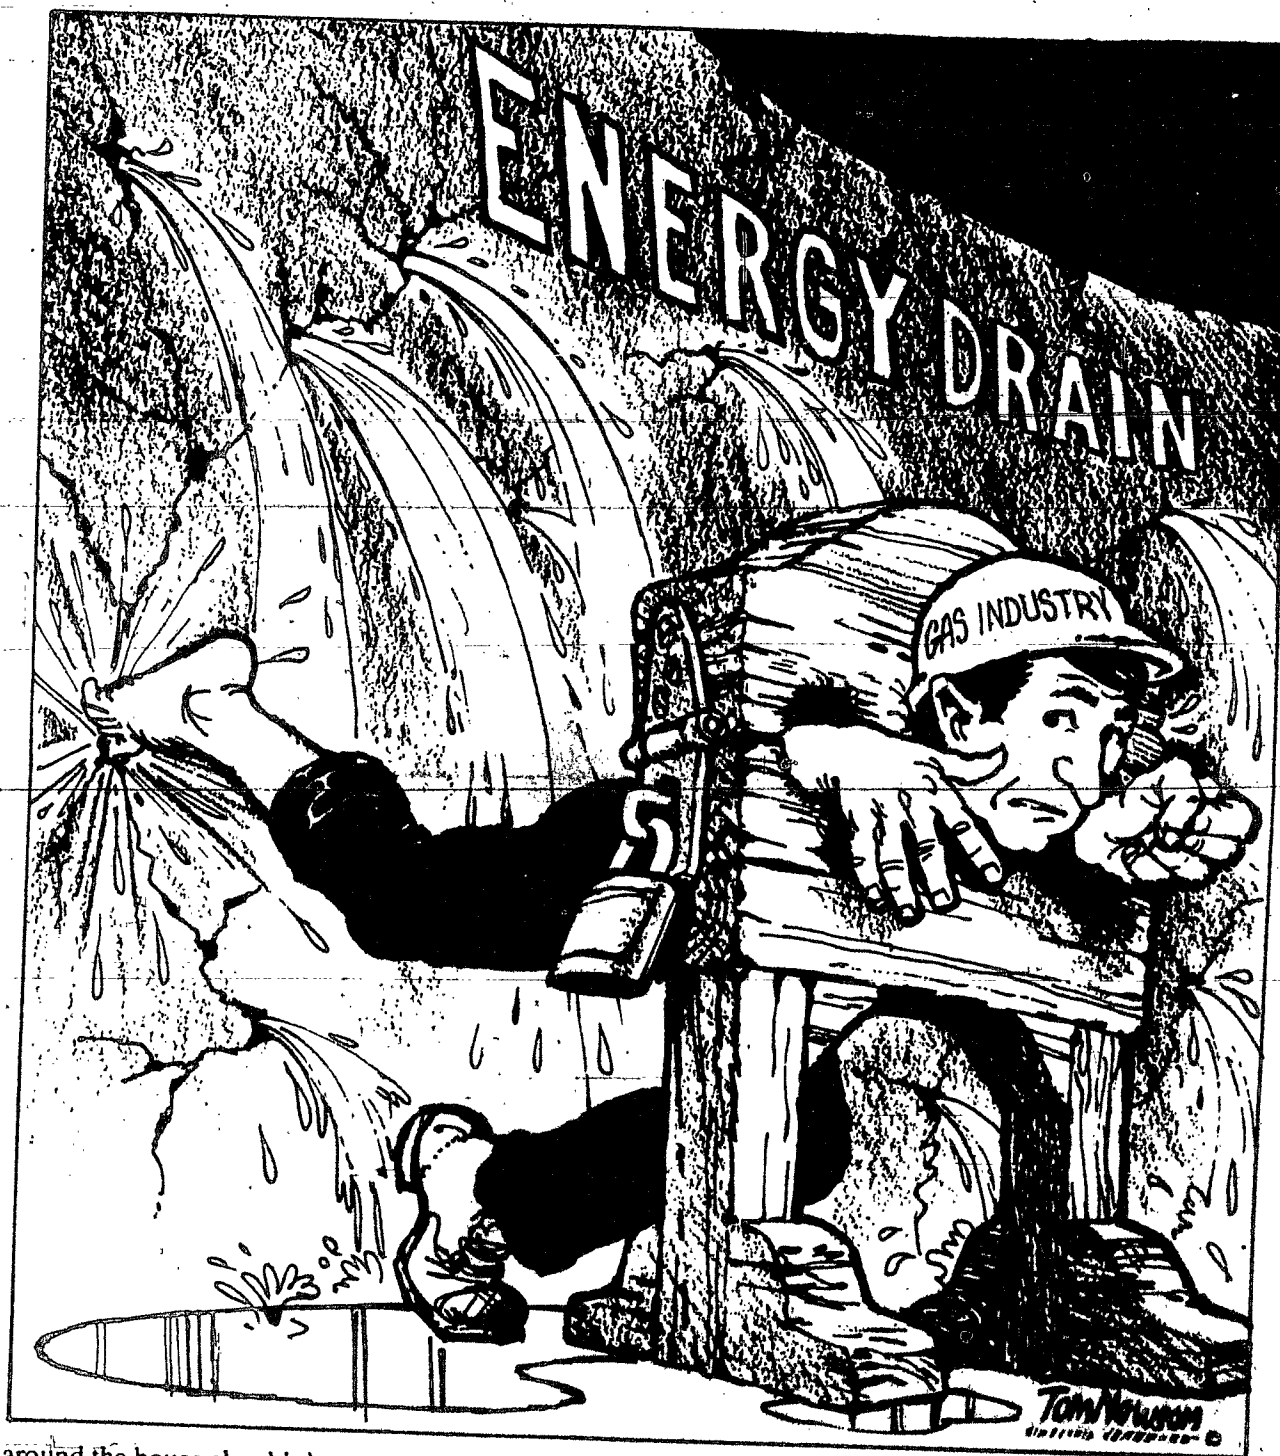

Other parts of the country will be more severely affected by the natural gas shortage this winter than will Mississippi and other states in United's direct service area. Nevertheless, gas curtailments will be deep in Mississippi and the Gulf South and we must all do everything we can to reduce the impact of the shortage.

Conservation will help.

A program of conservation in which everyone can participate is an important first step in overcoming the impact of the shortage.

It's simple mathematics. Since there's only a certain amount of natural gas available, every cubic foot we consume in the home is a cubic foot that won't be available for industrial uses.

Of course, the opposite is also true. Every cubic foot saved at home is a cubic foot that could be made available to industry. So, conserving gas around the house shouldn't seem so unimportant. Besides saving money, it can save some people from temporary job layoffs in the bargain. Maybe it isn't your job, but for sure, it's one of your neighbor's.

And it really won't put you out that much, either. All you have to do to really help is turn your thermostat down to 68° in the day and 64° at night while you're asleep. Plus check to see that your doors and windows are closed and sealed tightly and that your attic and outside walls are well insulated.

If everybody in Mississippi would do just that much, we estimate human needs consumption could be reduced by 15 percent and that would help to keep more of Mississippi's industry at work this winter.

Some industries can burn oil.

In the past, that's just what industry has done, as have the electric power plants. Whenever it was necessary to curtail the industrial use of natural gas in the past (you see, this isn't a new problem... it's been with us in some parts of the country for over 25 years), the affected business bought standby equipment and switched over to burning an alternate fuel which was usually oil or coal.

But that was when oil was abundantly available and before the OPEC embargo had driven the price up above $12 a barrel for imported crude. In equivalent terms, a "barrel" of energy in the form of natural gas at the wellhead would cost about $2. So now, even if the affected industry can get all the oil it needs, it'll have to pay a lot more for the fuel than if it could go on burning natural gas.

This means that industrial gas customers—and electric utility customers when power plants must pass these increased fuel costs on to them—are now bearing higher energy costs for reasons totally beyond the control of the gas supplier. As long as oil prices stay so high and gas remains in short supply, this problem will remain. We wish just as much as our customers that there was something we could do about the foreign oil situation—and the other factors which cause hardship during the current gas shortage.

We're doing our best.

One of Mississippi's best bets to get more natural gas through interstate pipelines in the foreseeable future is United Gas Pipe Line Company. We're vitally concerned with what happens to the people of Mississippi, and we're a major interstate pipeline supplier bringing large amounts of gas into Mississippi.

United Gas is a 50-percent partner in Sea Robin Pipeline Company's $160 million, 300-mile pipeline system transporting gas from Federal waters in the Gulf to Sea Robin's compressor station at Erath, Louisiana. Sea Robin is capable of handling 1.2 billion cubic feet of gas daily, and more than 25 producers are connected to Sea Robin's pipeline network.

United is working to bring more gas in from the Federal waters offshore Texas, too. United is an equal partner with three other companies seeking FPC approval to build a $343 million, 200-mile pipeline network to tap important new gas reserves up to 100 miles off the Texas coast for delivery to onshore points in the Gulf South.

In recent years, a substantial and growing part of United's gas supply has come from the Federal waters of the Gulf of Mexico, the area which is expected more than any other to provide new gas reserves in the next few years. This magnifies the importance of United's major efforts to enlarge its purchases of gas from producers in the Gulf of Mexico.

Right now, much of the gas United is able to obtain in the Gulf waters is delivered for use in Mississippi. United is making great efforts to attach these new supplies, but the help and cooperation of everyone in Mississippi is vital.

Let's face the facts squarely.

Fixing the blame for the nation's energy woes contributes nothing to the solution.

Looking back, we know that the government has kept the price of gas too low at the wellhead to provide an incentive for speculative drilling. We know that a dual price structure has taken needed gas away from interstate pipelines. We know that the desirability of this clean-burning fuel—particularly during a time of growing environmental concern—has increased gas demand far beyond anyone's projections. Despite our best efforts, we know that we simply can't get enough gas now to meet all our customer needs.

We all wish the energy shortage would go away, but it won't.

The problem remains and it's up to all of us to solve it.

We can't do it without you, and you can't do it without us.

Thanks. And no thanks.

One thing we can all be thankful for is that most state and local officials in Mississippi and the Gulf South not only understand the problem, but are working night and day trying to help find solutions. Without them, the situation could be worse.

Meanwhile, back in Washington, the picture's not quite so bright. Despite the yeoman efforts of Senators and Representatives from energy-producing states, and some others, Congress so far has not come to grips with the problem.

We are confident that common sense eventually will light the way to a solution equitable for all of us.

We're not the gas company. We're your gas company.

More than 2,000 United employees live and work in the five-state Gulf South area. Whatever happens to the people of this region happens to us. We have a tremendous investment here in time, people and money. And we're committed to helping build a better future for us all.

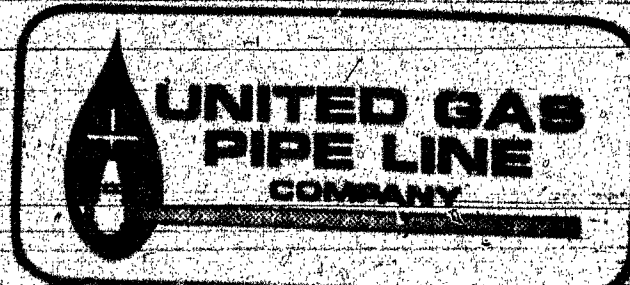

The point is, at United Gas we're a lot more than just concerned bystanders.

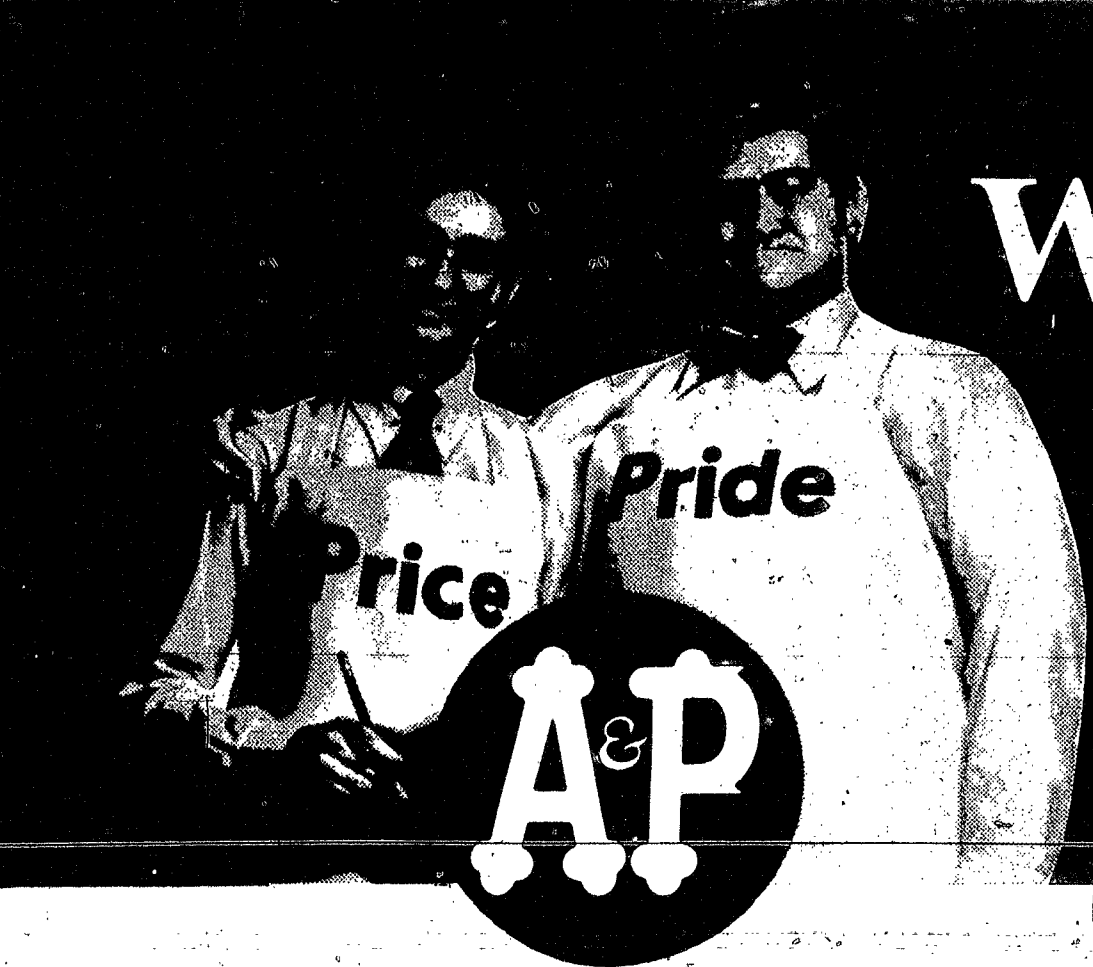

Get a fix on the answer.

Public officials, industrial leaders and consumers are coming to the obvious conclusion: a combination of energy conservation and development based on sound economic incentives is the energy policy needed now and in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Griffin

Ladner-Griffin wed in evening ceremony Dec. 20

Janelle Marie Ladner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ladner, Bay St. Louis, and Gary Francis Griffin, son of Dr. and Mrs. John L. Griffin, Bay St. Louis, were married Saturday, Dec. 20, at 7 p.m. in Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church.

The Rev. Gregory Johnson officiated at the candlelight ceremony. Mrs. John McKenna was the organist and Miss Sherrie Ladner sang.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional wedding gown of candlelight lustrous. The bodice, full length sleeves, gown front, and train were trimmed with Alecon lace re-embroidered with seed pearls. Her cathedral-length veil fell from a cap of lace and pearls.

The bride carried a cascade of red and white sweetheart roses, baby's breath, and holly leaves centered with a white orchid.

Her only jewelry was a gold and diamond lavalier, a family heirloom worn by brides in the family for three generations.

Mrs. John L. Bufkin, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Miss Lorraine Ladner attended her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. John L. Griffin Jr., Richmond, Va.; Mrs. Lavelle Griffin, Marrero, La.; Mrs. Woods Alliston, Bay St. Louis; Mrs. James Weeks, Hattiesburg; and Mrs. Sheron Griffin, New Orleans, La.

Miss Janelle Bufkin, niece of the bride, was the flower girl.

Dr. Griffin attended his son as best man. Groomsmen were Dr. John L. Griffin Jr., Richmond, Va.; Lavelle Griffin, Marrero, La.; Jimmy Griffin, Orlando, Fla.; Woody Alliston, Charles Mathern, and Mac Cowan, all of Bay St. Louis.

The reception was held at Jourdan River Shores Club.

Mrs. Alexander Mouldern, Gretna, La., godmother of the bride, cut the bride's cake and Miss Paula Griffin, Richmond, presided over the guest register. Punch was served by Mrs. Jimmy Griffin, Orlando, Fla. and egg nog was served by Mrs. Anthony Moran, Bay St. Louis.

Morrison is a member of the St. Thomas Knights of Columbus and attends St. Thomas Catholic Church in Long Beach. His interests are gardening, fishing, hunting, and his grandchildren.

Mrs. Lucy Dessommes, widow of the late Bernard E. Dessommes, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Pecoul of Mississippi City. Mrs. Dessommes resides in Long Beach with her six children and is employed by St. Thomas School as librarian. The candidate is a member of St. Thomas Catholic Church, is secretary of St. Thomas Parish Council, and is a member of St. Thomas Altar Society and the Gulf Coast Coalition for life. Mrs. Dessommes served as the coordinator of the Long Beach Senior Citizens.

Larson, a native of Wichita, Kansas, is the son of Mrs. Virginia Meyer and the late Herbert Larson. He attended Kansas State University and received his law degree from the University of Mississippi. His law office was opened in Gulfport in 1973.

He is a member of the American Bar Association, the Mississippi Bar Association, the American Trial Lawyer's Association and the Mississippi Trial Lawyer's Association. He is also a member of the Harrison

Wanda Mazingo to wed J. E. Giveans Feb. 14

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Mazingo of Nicholson announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Wanda, to J. E. Giveans, Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Giveans of Pearlinton.

The ceremony is scheduled Feb. 14 at 5 p.m. at the Emmanuel Baptist Church in Nicholson.

County Bar and Junior Bar Associations. Larson is engaged to Miss Jill Wilson of Gulfport. He is a member of the Episcopal Church.

Miss Frances Carrubba is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Carrubba of Long Beach. She is a graduate of Long Beach High School and attended the University of Southern Mississippi. She was an art major at Gulf Park College for Women.

Miss Carrubba is a member of St. Thomas Catholic Church, a former secretary of the Carnival Association of Long Beach, and has been a member of the Krewe of Gemini of Gulfport. She is employed by Hancock Bank of Gulfport.

Killen-Comeaux wedding announced

Mrs. Janet Del Castillo, Bay St. Louis, announces the forthcoming marriage of her daughter, Bobby Killen, to Lester Paul Comeaux, Arnaudville, La., son of Leroy Comeaux Sr. and Mrs. Velma Richard.

The wedding will take place Jan. 24 and special invitations will be sent to friends and relatives.

Miss Killen is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Talliac, Bay St. Louis.

All friends and relatives are invited to attend the wedding and reception, which will follow in the church fellowship hall.

The Carnival Association of Long Beach recently announced King and Queen Candidates for the 1976 season. The team of Mark Larson and Frances Carrubba (left)

Methodist youth discuss world hunger

Members of the Methodist Youth Fellowship of Main Street United Methodist Church discussed plans for a food program for hungry people overseas at the group's last meeting Sunday.

Seniors in the group were detailed to locate the address of one suitable missionary overseas to receive contributions directly from the MYF members.

Senior MYF members will visit First Methodist Church in Gulfport next Sunday. Members will assemble at 4:30 p.m. so they will be on time for the 5 p.m. snack supper in Gulfport.

A recreational room has been set up in the church Sunday School Building and MYF meetings extended until 7 p.m. with new members encouraged to attend.

Coast Guardsman Patrick F. Cheney Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick F. Cheney, Sr., 643 Carroll Avenue, Bay St. Louis, has returned after a three-week deployment to the Western Caroline Islands while embarked aboard the Coast Guard Cutter Basswood, homeported at Guam.

While deployed, he and his shipmates serviced aids to navigation, furnished medical assistance on several of the islands, provided logistics and marine environmental protection, and enforced laws and international treaties throughout the Caroline Island waters.

A 1974 graduate of Bay High, Cheney joined the Coast Guard in March 1975.

More than 55 percent of all money spent by the Veterans Administration on procurement in fiscal year 1975 went to small business firms.

Bam Bars closes '75 racing with meet record

(Special to The Echo)
PEARL RIVER, La. - The odds against a new meet record being set Sunday at Oak Downs were pretty high. First of all, weekend rains left the track very muddy. Secondly, it was the last day of racing for the 1975 meet and many top horses had run here during the year.

However, Bam Bars disregarded the odds and came up with an impressive record-setting performance in winning the five-horse, three-furlong seventh race.

Owned by Lesli Dedeaux and trained by Larry Favre, both of Hancock County, Bam Bars was clocked in 36.63 seconds, easily breaking the previous mark of 36.93 set May 11 by Uncle Bill, Charlie Silkwood, was in the irons.

There also was some bad news in the seventh race.

Ralph Shubert, the leading jockey at Oak Downs the last two seasons, suffered three broken ribs and a collapsed lung when his mount, Silver Sunday, threw him and then stepped on his back.

One year ago, Shubert broke his left leg in a riding accident the day after Christmas. His recent mishap came three days after Christmas.

So you'll have to pardon Shubert if he says "Bah! Humbug!" to Christmas.

"I think I'm gonna take next December off," Shubert said from a bed in the intensive care ward at Slidell Memorial Hospital. He was thrown when the horse raced wide in the turn and hit the outside rail.

"I saw he wasn't gonna make the turn," recounted Shubert. "He was heading straight for the rail and I stood up to bail out. But before I could jump, he hit the rail, stumbled and I lost my balance."

Shubert was thrown over the front of the horse and then the thing that jockeys fear most happened.

"He stepped right on my back," said the 19-year-old New Orleans jockey. "I couldn't move and could hardly breathe."

Slubert, who won the riding title for the 1975 meet here with 155 first place finishes, expects to remain at the Slidell hospital through this week until he is well enough to be transferred to New Orleans.

Sunday's results:
1) 3 furlongs, Blazing Bill, 10.11 seconds, Johnny Longo, owner and trainer; Dennis Ory, jockey, Rocky Harris, 40.13, Trouble No More, 41.07, Desiree, 41.08, Poppa Pluto, jumped inside rail at start of race.

2) 300 yards, Cotton's Injun, 17.34, Delbert Cuevas, owner and trainer; Dennis Ory, jockey, One For Money, 17.60, 3) 350 yards, Go Failsa Go, 19.43, Jackie Whitfield, owner; Louis Burge trainer; Dennis Ory, jockey. On And On, 19.50.

SUGAR BOWL REGATTA -

Bay Waveland's team of Woody Stieffel, Anne Gordon, and Cindy Stieffel won the featured Race of Champions in the Sugar Bowl Regatta last weekend. Two hundred seventy boats from all over the country participated in this annual event on Lake Pontchartrain jointly hosted by New Orleans and Southern Yacht Clubs.

MARCEAGAN took an easy first overall in the 14 boat SUNFISH Class which raced on Friday. Tom Paine of Mobile finished second. Buzzy Heausler made a fine show by winning the final race in the 22 boat Laser fleet, placing fourth overall.

Race of Champions Series, Stieffel and his crew sailed the Bay Waveland Flying Scot to victory with two firsts and a third in the nine boat fleet. Ed Reardon of Pontchartrain Yacht Club was second, with Benz Faget of host New Orleans Yacht Club in third place.

Marc Eagan with Ed Turnipseed crewing walked off with three straight firsts in the 15 boat Open FLYING SCOT FLEET. Peter Gambel of Southern Yacht Club was second with Ellen Eagan crewing. Bubby Eagan finished third with Mimi and Mary Lynne Eagan as crew. In the Easterly 30 Class, Bill Heausler placed third in the Wahoo in a fleet of 11 boats.

Piernas completes tech course

Mickey Piernas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roman M. Piernas of Bay St. Louis, recently completed a fingerprint technicians course at the J. Edgar Hoover FBI Building in Washington, D.C.

The course teaches methods of reading, searching and classifying fingerprints by their characteristics. Fingerprints are utilized by the FBI for persons identification with their files available to law enforcement agencies throughout the U.S. Piernas, and his wife, Vernadire, reside in Oxon Hill, Maryland.

Forest fires plague county

A rash of forest fires has plagued portions of the county for the past two weeks, according to local Mississippi Forestry Commission personnel.

County Forester Michael Williams said today firefighting crews have battled some 50 wildfires in the county since Nov. 1. Most of the fires have been in the northeast and southern areas.

Williams estimated that more than 1000 acres were burned during a five day period. The acreage, he said, included both forest and non-forest land.

Though timber losses were not disclosed, Williams said several of the fires were "considerably destructive and costly."

The forester cited woods arson and careless debris burning as chief causes of the increased fire occurrence. He noted that between eight and fifteen fires a week were generally considered normal for this time of year.

KANTCHA

KETCHUM
By L. A. (Doc) Elliot

Harold Zimmerman, son Charles and grandson Wayne fished Biloxi Bayou Saturday and caught 269 lbs. of red fish. Said they had a great time.

Kantcha Ketchum wishes everyone a very happy New Year.

If you need softened butter for baking in a hurry, shred it on a vegetable grater, using the larger holes.

Coble-Pike

Mr. and Mrs. Ira C. Coble, Gretna, La., announce the upcoming marriage of their daughter Susanne to Phil Pike, son of Mr. and Mrs. Malvin Pike, Baton Rouge, La.

The wedding will be celebrated Jan. 3 at St. Thomas Aquinas Chapel on the campus of Nicholls State University in Thibodaux, La.

Miss Coble is the granddaughter of Mrs. Mabel Curet and the late Mr. Curet of Bay St. Louis.

The couple graduated from Nicholls State and Miss Coble holds a B.S. degree in computer science.

Consumer's Notebook

The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) has taken special steps to protect consumers who shop by mail.

The FTC recently issued a trade regulation rule requiring mail order firms to fill the orders they receive within 30 days or offer consumers their money back. The rule was made in response to the growing number of complaints regarding nondelivery of merchandise received by the FTC and the Office of Consumer Affairs.

In the future, mail order houses must notify their customers within 30 days after receiving an order if there will be a delay and the merchandise will not be shipped within the stated time. If the delivery date cannot be met, consumers must be given the option to cancel their order and receive a refund. According to the FTC, the mail order firms must provide consumers with an adequate cost-free method (such as a postage-paid card) of notifying the firm of cancellation.

If there is no reply, the mail order firm can assume that the consumer has consented to the delay, but this only applies for an additional 30 days. For delays beyond 60 days, the consumer must give his or her consent in writing.

The new mail order rule, which goes into effect Feb. 2, 1976, is limited to merchandise and does not cover "services connected with merchandise" (such as mail order photo finishing). Also excluded from the rule are magazines, seeds, growing plants and orders on a collect-on-delivery (C.O.D.) basis.

The Postal Service will continue to handle consumer complaints about mail orders and will work with the FTC to resolve mail order problems that fall under the new regulation.

Current withholding rates, tables apply to '76 wages

Employers should continue using the existing federal income tax withholding rates and tables for wages paid during the first six months of 1976, William Daniel, district withholding rates through director of the Internal Revenue Service for Mississippi, said recently. The Revenue Adjustment Act of 1975 extending current

June 30, 1976 was signed into law on Dec. 23, 1975.

Daniel said that employers may continue using the income tax withholding rates and tables contained in the April, 1975 revision of Circular E, "Employer's Tax Guide".

He also noted that the new law does not affect social security withholding. However, the maximum amount of wages subject to social security taxes has been increased to $15,300 for wages paid after Dec. 31, 1975.

Tax time here again

Real and personal property taxes will become due Feb. 1, 1976 for all Hancock County property owners.

Tax assessor-collector George Heitzmann said that his office would be open from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. daily and half a day Saturdays during January to collect the taxes. Taxes not paid by Feb. 1 will incur a penalty interest of 1/2 of one percent each month thereafter through July.

Hancock County residents who plan to file for homestead exemptions must present their 1976 license tag numbers for all motor vehicles together with their social security number and the social security number of their spouse.
